Protestant Episcopal Church

IN PHILADELPHIA.

1865--66.

PUBLISHED, MAY, 1866.

PHILADELPHIA:
J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO.
1866.

LOCATION.

The Divinity School is situated at the corner of Thirty-ninth and Walnut Streets, West Philadelphia, and is accessible by the Market Street Passenger Railway Cars. The Cars on the Chestnut and Walnut Streets Railway will also pass near the Institution.

OPENING.

The School opens on the third Thursday of September, which in the present year (1866) will be on the 20th day of the month.

The Dean will meet applicants for admission at 11 o'clock on the day above named, in Spencer Hall, Thirty-ninth and Walnut Streets, West Philadelphia, and admit on probation such as propose for the Junior Class and seem to be able to do the work of that Class.

Applicants for the Senior and Middle grades will be examined by the Professors at 10 o'clock of the same day, at the same place.

The ordinary exercises of the Institution begin at $10\frac{1}{2}$ on Friday morning.

Persons desiring to undertake only a part of the above named course are arranged for individually.

Students unable to provide themselves with the books above named may, to a limited extent, obtain them from the Library of the Institution.

Comparatively few text books are needed; as the instruction is mostly given by Lectures, of which the students are required to take copious notes.

OF ADMISSION.

Every person producing to the Faculty satisfactory evidence of his having been admitted a Candidate for Holy Orders, with full qualifications according to the Canons of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, will be received as a Student in the Divinity School. Any other person may be admitted who shall produce satisfactory evidence of moral and religious character; of literary attainments, and in general of such disposition and habits as may render him apt and meet to exercise the ministry, and to be a suitable companion for young men preparing for the same.

To be admitted a member of the Middle or Senior Class, or of the Junior Class after the month of September, a person must undergo a satisfactory examination in the studies which have been pursued by the Class for which he proposes.

OF THE LIBRARY.

The Library contains about 4000 volumes, including many of the most valuable Theological works, to which the Students have access daily.

OF VACATIONS AND EXAMINATIONS.

The year is divided into three terms, the first ending on the 24th day of December, when there is a suspension of study until the next day after the Festival of the Epiphany. The second term ends on the Saturday next before the sixth Sunday in Lent, when there is a recess until the Wednesday after Easter. The third term continues until the Thursday after the third Tuesday in June.

Before the Christmas and Easter vacations there are reviews and examinations, by order of the Faculty.

At the end of the year there is a public examination of the several classes upon all the studies of the year.

The recitations and Lectures are also omitted on Ash Wednesday and on Ascension Day.

OF EXPENSES.

Board, including fuel and lights, can be had either in Divinity Hall, which can accommodate about twenty-four Students, or in the neighborhood, on moderate terms.

There is no charge for tuition or room-rent.

Young men requiring pecuniary assistance to enable them to prosecute their studies in Theology may make application to the Secretary of "The Divinity Students' Aid Society," 708 Walnut Street, Philadelphia; or to the Rev. John A. Childs, Secretary of the Faculty, at the same place.

SOCIETIES.

There are two societies among the Students: the "James May Missionary Society," and the "Potter Rhetorical Society."

The object of the Missionary Society is to obtain and communicate information on the subject of Missions, and to foster a Missionary spirit among its members and the Students generally. It holds its meetings on the first Thursday of each month. Its present officers are, Mr. G. B. Keen, President; Mr. W. R. Ellis, Secretary; Mr. R. A. Edwards, Corresponding Secretary.

The purpose of the Rhetorical Society is sufficiently indicated by its name.

BUILDINGS.

The Buildings at present owned by the Institution are known as Divinity Hall and Spencer Hall. The former is the residence of the Matron and of a considerable number of the Students. The Dean occupies as an Office and Lecture Room the front Parlor in this Building.

Spencer Hall contains the Library of the Divinity School, and the Chapel for the religious services held with the Students. The Library is also used as a Lecture and Recitation Room by the Professor of Biblical Learning; and the Chapel is employed for a like purpose by the other Professors; it being divisible into two rooms by sliding partitions.

APPENDIX.

GAMBIER MISSION HOUSE.

THE following statement in regard to the Mission House is appended for the information of its friends. The Institution is entirely distinct from the Divinity School; but the Students of the former, during a part of their Course, are expected to attend the Lectures and Recitations of the latter.

This School was established for the Education of young Christian men for Foreign Missionary work, and opened on Sept. 1, 1864, at Gambier, Ohio. Its beginning was small every way, but the Lord held his strong hand over this tender plant of his vineyard to protect, to bless, and to strengthen it. And it did grow.

Bishop Stevens, with a number of clergy and laymen at Philadelphia, much interested in this Institution, sought and, after a long and full conference, obtained the Transfer of the Mission House to Philadelphia. It was deemed on the one hand, and reluctantly allowed on the other, that the general interests of the House would be best promoted at Philadelphia. "Our help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth."
